Re: United States v. Gina Guy, case no. 1:25-cr-00029-JGK

Unopposed Letter Motion Requesting Modification of Ms. Guy's Conditions of Release to Allow her to Use a Computer to Communicate with Undersigned Counsel in Relation to her Pending Case

Dear Judge Koeltl,

At present, Ms. Guy's conditions of pretrial release allow her to use a computer for work purposes only. Since the Government has begun providing discovery, undersigned counsel needs to share and communicate with Ms. Guy to review and discuss those items, and to generally exchange thoughts about the preparation of her defense. Accordingly, I seek the requested modification which contemplates Ms. Guy's use of an email address dedicated solely for communications with undersigned counsel. As with the allowed usage of a telephone by Ms. Guy, US Pretrial Services may monitor the usage between undersigned counsel and Ms. Guy but may not read or share its privileged contents.

On March 28, 2025, I communicated with AUSA's Lauren Phillips and Diarra Guthrie, as well as US Pretrial Services Officer Andrew Dziopa (who supervises Ms. Guy in New Jersey), and they indicated no objection to the instant request. On March 30, 2025, SDNY US Pretrial Services Officer Ashley Cosme also advised undersigned counsel that she had no objection.

Sincerely,

William Castro
Attorney for Gina Guy
